New Labor Measure Offered

Replacement For Taft-Hartley Law

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The administration Saturday asked congress to wipe out provisions for court orders in labor disputes except where employers and unions are held guilty of "unfair labor practices."

Under the new labor bill sent to congress, the government no longer would have the right to ask the courts to bar strikes causing national emergencies.

The only court orders that could be sought would be by the national labor relations board to enforce its decisions that an employer or union has been guilty of "unfair labor practices." The NLRB had such authority under the old Wagner labor act only for prosecution of employers.

"One-Package" Bill.

The proposed bill also would wipe out Taft-Hartley provisions calling on union officers to swear they are not communists, along with present bans on the closed shop, union political spending and strikes by federal employees.

The "one-package" labor bill sent to the senate labor committee would repeal the controversial Taft-Hartley law and restore the old Wagner labor relations act with "improvements" asked by President Truman.

Secretary of Labor Tobin is due to go before the committee Monday to explain provisions of the new measure, which was released by the committee Saturday without comment.

No Affidavits.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, the government has had authority to obtain court orders to bar strikes for an 80-day period after other means of settlement had failed. These orders can be sought where the national welfare is involved.

This provision was vigorously opposed by labor groups which demanded Taft-Hartley repeal as an issue in the election campaign last fall.

Among other controversial provisions which would be wiped out with repeal of the Taft-Hartley law would be the requirement that union officials file affidavits swearing they are not communists.

If the administration bill becomes law, all court injunctions in labor disputes would be barred except orders which the national labor relations board might seek from Federal courts to enforce its "unfair labor practice" decisions.

"Cooling Off" Period.

The courts were authorized to issue such injunctions even under the Wagner act. Under that law, however, only employers were prosecuted for unfair practices—not unions.

Under the proposed bill, if a union were found guilty by the NLRB of an "unfair labor practice" and refused to accept the NLRB decision, it could be forced to comply by means of a court order. But no such order could be issued before the NLRB issued its decision.

Under the new law proposed by the administration, a 30-day "cooling off" period would be provided. This is designed to avert "national paralysis" strikes.

Recommendations Authorized.

The first step would be for the president to appoint an emergency fact-finding board. Such boards would have authority to make recommendations for settlement. Under

Atlantic Pact Step To War

Russians Charge In White Paper

MOSCOW — (AP) — Russia issued a white paper Saturday to tell the world the projected North Atlantic pact is part of a British-American plan for a new war.

It is a plot against the United Nations and has as its object the establishment of British-American domination of the world by force, said the Soviet foreign ministry.

The Western European Union was declared a link in the plans for world domination by the two powers.

The document accused Britain and the United States of trying to isolate the Soviet Union, undermine the United Nations, institute an economic boycott of the U.S.S.R. and her friends, trying to start a new war and not wanting to conclude peace treaties for Germany and Japan.

Today's Chuckle

When Citizen Smith fell behind in his car payments, he began to get a steady stream of letters from the finance company. They were mild at first, but gradually they began to build up to a threatening crescendo. Finally came a letter intended to touch the man's sense of shame.

"Dear Mr. Smith," it began. "What would your neighbors think if we came and repossessed your car?"

Back came the answer, which so far the finance company hasn't been able to top: "Dear Sirs, I took the matter up with neighbors and they think it would be a very sly trick."

Stay Off Highways

Brig. Gen. Guy N. Henninger, who is directing the blizzard disaster relief effort, today urged pleasure drivers to stay off of highways over the week end.

"Many of these trails are only one car wide, and we need to keep the highways open for moving equipment into the disaster area.

"We don't want to keep anybody off the road who is getting supplies or helping people in distress, but we strongly urge motorists to refrain from pleasure driving until the crisis is past," General Henninger declared.

DWIGHT POWER OFF

Nebraskans, cheered by reports that outside aid was on its way in force, receded slowly Saturday from the latest of a series of death-dealing snowstorms and blizzards which still had two-thirds of the state highways clogged and closed to traffic.

The "digging out" operations, although hampered by sub-zero weather that dipped to 15 below at Chadron and Scottsbluff, had made this progress:

One-third of all state highways—more than 3,500 miles have been cleared in 24 hours by the state highway department.

That bulldozers, stalled in eastern Nebraska by the 13 inch snow, were again rolling toward the Bartlett, Norfolk, Albion, Valentine, and O'Neill areas were conditions have been described as "desperate."

Main rail and bus travel across the state east-west has been resumed.

Meanwhile the death toll from January storms in the state mounted to 18 as seven new deaths attributed either directly or indirectly to the storm was reported by the Associated Press. Two of the victims were in Lincoln. They died from heart attacks while shoveling snow.

Body Found Near Truck.

The seventh victim of the new storm was Albert Kragel, 46, Sidney, whose body was found late yesterday near his oil truck parked in a country lane about 10 miles south of Sidney. The body was badly frozen. Kragel had just finished making a delivery of fuel to the country home of Rev. Otto Wittig.

Second Blackout in Week.

At least 11 towns in the Butler county area were still without power Saturday morning more than 36 hours after a break in lines had caused the cut off.

These towns suffering their second "blackout" within a week are Bee, Dwight, Brainard, Bruno, Octavia, Bellwood, Toughy, Valparaiso, Linwood, Abie, and Ulysses.

Meanwhile communications to all these towns were still cut off with the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company reporting that 24 eastern Nebraska towns were still isolated in Butler, Saunders and Seward counties.

New Pleas From Holt.

But it was still in the northwest where the real misery of the storm was being felt. From Holt county, where O'Neill is the hub of the inactivation of the base indicated the move might take from three to six months.

Col. Ashley B. Packard, commanding officer of the Kearney base, released information Saturday that orders have been received from headquarters of the Eighth air force, Fort Worth, Tex., for all units of the 27th fighter wing to be alerted for the move.

Plane Found Near Truck.

The news broke here while the three-man chamber of commerce committee sent to Washington, D. C., was working to have high air force officials rescind their action in ordering the base closed.

The committee members reported from Washington Friday night that they had started a series of conferences which would continue through Saturday and Monday.

Kearney Field To Be Vacated Before Mar. 1

KEARNEY, Neb.—(AP)—Units stationed at the Kearney air force base will move to Texas during February, all of them clearing the field here not later than March 1, it was announced here Saturday. Original announcement of the inactivation of the base indicated the move might take from three to six months.

Col. Ashley B. Packard, commanding officer of the Kearney base, released information Saturday that orders have been received from headquarters of the Eighth air force, Fort Worth, Tex., for all units of the 27th fighter wing to be alerted for the move.

Landlords To Try Tulsa Plan ... In Chicago

CHICAGO — (AP) — Some 750 Chicago landlords who said they own 98,000 Chicago rental units have overwhelmingly approved a plan to withdraw their property from the rental market as a means of fighting federal rent controls.

The Chicago group is modeling itself after a similar group in Tulsa, Okla., which has ordered mass evictions of its tenants within 60 days.

However, Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of Municipal court said yesterday that Chicago courts "will take all steps to halt any mass eviction movement."

Under the law, once a rental unit is taken off the market, it cannot be rented again, he said.

January Moisture Record Is Doubled

R. A. Dyke, Lincoln weather station director, reported Saturday that the recent snow had pushed up total precipitation in Lincoln during January to nearly twice the previous record and over four times normal.

Precipitation so far this month totals 3.7 inches. Of this 2.2 inches came in the form of rain and sleet, the rest as snow. Previous record, set in 1932, was 1.92 inches. Normal precipitation for the month is .64 inches.

WAKE OF THE STORM

More than a month ago this newspaper called attention to the kind of bus service the people of Lincoln are getting. It did not then anticipate that on a certain late January snowy morning the bus company's patrons, work-bound, would be left to shift for themselves.

It appears that in its franchise agreements with the city of Lincoln as a condition to service the company drove a hard bargain. Blocked streets, no service! It is as simple as that. Who shall say that the streets are not passable is not clear. We assume that the proof of the puddin' is in the eatin', which means that if a bus gets stuck in the snow, or a number of buses, then that is prima facie evidence operations are impossible, notwithstanding that transportation to and from work comes about as near to every-day necessities as anything in the catalog.

We know that it is possible to build a case for the suspended bus service which the people of Lincoln have a right to expect, and upon which thousands of them depend. We likewise know that most people either are reasonable, or like to think they are reasonable in their demands. The city of Lincoln to the best of its ability performed its part of the bargain to keep bus service moving. Superintendent of Streets Lynn Myers had his crews out early, every available piece of equipment, every available man on the job, and the very first streets opened were those over which buses were supposed to move. Then came the excuse from the bus line that it was impossible to turn around at the end of the route, which is just too bad. We haven't any idea how much of a shoveling job was involved, but it does seem that a little bit of energetic action on the part of the company serving this city could have mobilized forces adequate to make service possible.

The company operating in Lincoln naturally is in business to make money. It asked for an increase in fares, got it. There was no spirited opposition in the face of mounting costs of operation to higher fares. The assumption was, and the promise which the company made was that service would be improved. We had the vision of a lot of new equipment, replacing old, worn and tired buses; the company has brought in some new facilities, but if it expects to win friends and satisfy demands, it is going to have to do better than it did Friday morning. It doesn't take a great deal of gumption to operate bus service when the sailing is smooth. The time when bus service is most appreciated is when it is needed; and, we assume the company knows that one way to win popular favor is to be on the job when the going is tough.

In short, what happened near week's-end to Lincoln bus service was a mess. City Director Cobe Venner was hot under the collar, and from this seat, it appears with full justification. Mayor Clarence Miles was critical of the failure of the company to put its buses into operation for a considerable period after the streets had been cleared by the street department. It would seem that the sensible thing all the way around, not that a repetition of Friday's snow experience is to be anticipated, is for the city officials to call the bus company management in, gather around a table, and have a real heart-to-heart talk, not only with respect to the matter nearest at hand now but in connection with improved transportation service the year around. The operating company is in several cities. We are not concerned with what happens on the west coast or anywhere else, but we are concerned with transportation in Lincoln.

What happened in Omaha was indecisive. What follows will prove either a cooling-off period or the spadework of a genuine brawl.

Abroad the week produced nothing spectacular. In China apparently the communists were so sure of their position that they would listen to no peace talk of any kind. As a result nationalist lines seemed to be re-forming for battle south of the Yangtze river, and the Chinese communists may have overplayed their hands. The Chinese people saw Chiang Kai-shek depart without any great outward demonstration of regret primarily because they are demanding peace. Elsewhere in the Near East and in the Dutch East Indies the week dragged without any conclusive developments.

Measure To Cut Inspection Fee On Fuel Moved

The legislative committee on government after hearings Friday reported out to general file a bill cutting in half the one cent inspection fee on each barrel of motor vehicle fuel sold in Nebraska.

Cly Wright, chief of the motor fuels division of the state department of agriculture, said the state had no objection to the reduction in fees, since the present fee produces more revenue than is needed to cover inspection costs. The fee was cut an equal amount in 1945.

Also reported out by the committee was LB 143, a bill prescribing the requirements for the organization of rural fire districts. fix the limits of indebtedness of other state parks.

LB 165, a bill making a two-thirds majority of the vote cast on a special proposition at any election sufficient for passage, was held up by the committee. Under present laws, passage of a proposition requires a two-thirds majority of all votes cast at the election.

Meanwhile, the committee on miscellaneous appropriations reported out to general file LB 207, appropriating $5,784 from the fund to pay the premiums on the bonds of the state treasurer and deputy treasurer. The bill will also be used to pay the premiums for the insurance policy on money and securities in connection with the treasurer's office.

The committee held up LB 161, appropriating $17,000 for repair, restoration and improvement of the Niobrara State park, pending hearings on similar requests for

REASONABLE AND RELIABLE

Roberts Mortuary

Chamber of Commerce Bldg.

At its best, bus service here is none too sparkling, and at its worst it is very bad.

Specifically the thing in mind is better equipment, more convenient schedules, schedules more regularly filled so that patrons may know when to look for a bus, and are able to depend upon catching it at the time it is supposed to be at a given point. More specifically the idea is not service when climatic conditions make it an easy chore, but service when the elements add to difficulties. And more specifically the bus company might solve some of its own troubles either by adding or assigning some of its present equipment to the long hauls—cross-country buses that do not stop at every corner to pack them in until the car is jammed in sardine fashion—with short-haul buses operating only in the closer-in districts taking care of that group of patrons. It is done in other communities. Not so long ago the company in Omaha went to it. Perhaps long-haul buses to Havrelock, University Place, College View and other outlying points are feasible, with other buses taking care of the near-in traffic, and stopping at every corner. It would contribute to regularity and dependability.

Cold and snow continued to be the dominating subject of thought over a large section of the country. In Lincoln January alone had contributed 3.64 inches of moisture, against a normal January precipitation of .64 inches. Reduced to snow, although all of it did not come in the form of snow, but rain and sleet, the month had supplied more than three feet of the beautiful. We were not so badly off in much of the eastern part of the state as areas in the central Nebraska counties, and particularly in northwest Nebraska.

Out on the range it was bad. Fuel supplies were running low, in isolated cases food was becoming short, and the problem of livestock occupied full attention. Ultimate losses will depend a great deal upon developments in the early part of February. Continued cold and snow will increase them, while more moderate weather will make it possible for the cattle country to dig out.

Amazingly along the eastern seaboard, even in cold New England, where deep snow and zero temperatures are traditional, the temperatures had been surprisingly mild, and resort keepers were bringing their hands because the winter sports lovers lacked snow for skiing. But the Pacific Northwest, all the plateau states, and the great plains area had had a stretch of winter that will be remembered for years.

In Nebraska highway snow removal costs were mounting to astronomical figures. Before the roads are open well over a million dollars will have been spent. In some sections roads have not been open since the closing days of November. In all the loss, and the inconvenience, however, it is not all loss. The sub-soil in Nebraska was drawn upon heavily during the 1948 growing season for moisture. It has been replenished. One section that suffered heaviest in the early summer of 1948 is the region where the snows are the deepest now.

Congress lost no time in making funds available for emergency purposes. The bulk of it is urgently required in a half a dozen states, and the assumption is that it will be passed out to these states.

And after the inaugural holiday congress was down to work. Ahead of it was a formidable array of splitting headaches. Contrary to earlier expectations one of the first big fights looms over labor measures.

The republican national committee has come and gone. The Omaha gathering resulted in no un-horsing, although surprisingly the margin by which Republican National Chairman Scott retained his place was slim, 54 to 50. His chief opposition came from the Taft forces, generally from the ranks of republican conservatives. Perhaps a better description of it is congressional republican leadership. Unlike the democrats, republican strategy has been influenced to a very great extent by its spokesmen in congress. In the democratic party, in season and out, the president or the party's nominee does most of the talking about party policy. From Woodrow Wilson's time on down, the party has followed the leader while in republican ranks the leadership has rested in congress. Governor Dewey might have had in his bill.

He picked her up in his arms and carried her back to the shore. "You'd have been all right if you hadn't got scared," he told her. "You did go too far, but you had nothing to fear but fear."

Before he released her, he leaned over and kissed her on the lips. "Rescuer's reward," he said. "Look like I'm falling in love with you, sugar. Shall we leave it at that, or shall we try for marriage?"

"I'll leave it at that," she said. "Only don't kiss me again. We've been going around together all summer, having fun. Don't spoil everything."

"Okay," he said. "I shouldn't."

"You don't say," Jack said. His comment on her unexpected pronouncement was accompanied by a frown. "Gee, that's a funny attitude for a girl to take. Too busy to bother with love and marriage."

"You don't say," Jack said. "Costello's gone too," he said. "They've got a new dance band. I'll take you home and come back later."

Chapter 17.

They spent a lazy three hours in Provincetown, and said very little.

Then, at Jack's suggestion, they walked to the end of quaint Commercial street. Here, a long, rocky breakwater joined the mainland to the sandy area on which a lighthouse was located.

Betty pointed to the breakwater. "I feel adventurous," she said. "What do you say we walk it and look at the water from there?"

She had never felt less adventurous in her life, but she had to do something—anything that would stop her from thinking of Gertrude. She knew she had not heard the whole story, but somehow she couldn't ask questions.

"All right," Jack said. "But I'm not sure I'm up to it. I'll be tough walking. We can't go far. The tide's coming in and sometimes it covers the breakwater."

Presently Jack shouted to her, "Better start back now. At the rate we're walking, the tide will move faster than we can."

"Oh, no!" she called back, without looking around. "I'm just learning how to walk on these things."

"Don't be a fool," he exclaimed, and started toward her.

She looked around then, and saw that she had come farther than she'd realized. There was water on either side of the rocky ledge and the tide was coming in quite fast. She knew a moment of panic as she felt herself grow dizzy and faint. Jack called to her.

"I wouldn't worry about that, darling," Betty tried to conceal the anxiety in her own voice. "I'm sure she's all right. She's out with her friends and they don't realize how late it is—you know how kids are, darling,"

Betty added lamely, "she might have had car trouble. Even new cars aren't perfect. So don't you worry and—"

"But you didn't let me finish, Betty," she broke in. "It's worse than you think. She—she's gone. I've been up to her room, and her clothes are gone too. We didn't have a quarrel or anything either. She—well, she's just gone!"

"I'll be home in ten minutes, Aunt Minniebelle. And I'm sure—in fact, I'm positive—everything is all right."

Betty had never been less sure of anything in her life. She said so to Jack Barnes, who stood waiting for her outside the phone booth, and he agreed with her.

"Costello's gone too," he said. "They've got a new dance band. I'll take you home and come back later."

Janet Gibson Is Bride Of William H. Flory

Two hundred and fifty invitations were issued for the wedding of Miss Janet Lois Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen T. Gibson of Gibbon; and William H. Flory, son of Judge and Mrs. Robert D. Flory of Columbus, which was an event of high noon on Saturday, January 29, at the Presbyterian church in Gibbon.

White gladioli, arranged in pedestal baskets against a screen of greenery, formed the background for the ceremony which was solemnized by Dr. George E. Chapman, minister of the Presbyterian church, and small bouquets of the blossoms were tied with white satin ribbons to mark the processional aisle on either side.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Leroy Sides of Denver. Mrs. Sides also accompanied Mrs. Glen Bateman who sang a group of nuptial numbers preceding the service.

Mrs. C. A. Palmquist of Tarrytown, N. Y., frocked in mauve satin, was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, both in sea green satin, were Miss Mabel Gordon and Miss Marilyn Weber of Norfolk. Identically styled the frocks were fashioned with brief cap sleeves and diamond cut out necklines in fitted bodices. Their skirts were formed of triple panniers of the satin. Each wore a wide satin bandeau, and matching satin mitts. Their colonial bouquets were of pink carnations—Mrs. Palmquist carrying flowers in the pastel pink, while the bridesmaids' bouquets were in the deeper pink.

The candles were lighted by Miss Barbara Leonard, and Miss Margaret Weber of Norfolk, both in sea blue satin. Wearing long-skirted frocks of pink satin, and carrying nosegays of pink carnations were the flower girls, Janet Palmquist and Sharon Vosepka.

Robert L. Flory of Fremont served his brother as best man, and the ushers were George E.

Week-End Chatter

NO ONE COULD EXPECT too much of this particular week-end. And it all depends upon the weather man how much can be expected of the days to come.

But, looking over some of the scribbled notes on the desk, we find that today is not entirely a total loss—

There is news of some Sunday homecomers—Dr. Everett Angle, who with Mrs. Angle, left Lincoln January 19 for New York City, is expected to plane in tomorrow. Dr. and Mrs. Angle were joined on their trip by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Reed who met them in Chicago. While in New York they visited Mrs. Angle's sister, Mrs. W. H. Kearns and Mr. Kearns, and also the Angle's son, Dr. William Angle who is interning at Long Island college hospital.

Mrs. Angle will return to Lincoln the latter part of next week.

THEN WE LEARNED THAT Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Farrell will be sailing from New York City on Tuesday for a cruise to the West Indies and South America.

SOME OF THE YOUNG set were busy this afternoon when Miss Mary Ann Kellogg and Miss Betty Hall were hostesses at a dessert luncheon and bridge party at Hotel Cornhusker. Fifty guests, all members of the senior class at Lincoln high school, found their luncheon places at foursome tables.

ON THE CALENDAR FOR Sunday evening is the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Everett G. White will be host and hostess when they entertain a small group of guests at the Cornhusker's continental buffet. The party is to honor their daughter, Mrs. Henry A. Elias, and their granddaughter, Marcia Anne Elias, who leave next week to join Mr. Elias in New York City from where they will proceed to their new home in Ras Tanura, Saudi Arabia. Mr. Elias is associated with the Arabian American Oil Co.

Activity For Woman's Club

Regular meetings of the mental hygiene, Bible and parliamentary practice departments of the Lincoln Women's club will not be held this coming week. Members of the mental hygiene department will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, February 8, and the next meeting of the parliamentary group will be held on Thursday, February 10.

A rehearsal for the music department members will be held at 1 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, in the Rogers room of the Y.W.C.A. All members are urged to attend.

Woman's club members who will serve on the election committee at both the primary election, February 14, and the general election, March 14, have been selected from each of the twelve departments. They include: Mrs. George Dutton, Bible department; Mrs. Hugh Mason, bridge; Mrs. H. W. Hewitt; citizenship; Mrs. H. W. Woman Wins Snow Race With Stork

FREMONT, Neb.—(AP)—Just 33 minutes after Mrs. Willis Nelson of Hooper had battled snow drifts to reach a Fremont hospital, a baby girl was born to her.

Mrs. Nelson and her husband left Hooper late Thursday night with Dr. C. D. Heine. For four hours they battled what seemed to be an endless number of snowdrifts until they became stalled three miles north of here.

Nelson's brother came to their assistance. He walked a mile to a farm home and arranged for a wrecker to drag their car into Fremont. Mrs. Nelson was rushed to the hospital.

Dr. Heine wasn't so lucky. He bid the Nelsons "good-bye" and

SOUTH DAKOTA CREW SLATED OPPOSE HUSKER CAGERS AT COLISEUM TONIGHT

By GEORGE MILLER.
(Star Sports Staff Member.)

NEBRASKA'S Saturday night basketball engagement rests in the hands of a bus driver who will attempt to bring the University of South Dakota team to Lincoln.

The Huskers and Sodaks are slated for action at 8 p. m. at the Coliseum.

Starting time has been set back from 7:30 because of the Nebraska-Minnesota indoor track meet which starts at 7.

Coach Rube Hoy of South Dakota talked with Husker officials Friday and said that bus travel is the only hope for the Coyotes. Train connections are poor from Vermillion, S. D., to Lincoln.

The South Dakota travelers will attempt the trip down the Iowa side of the Missouri river to Omaha and then move to the scene of tonight's game.

FOUR WINS.

Nebraska will be rolling on the strength of four consecutive wins, Two Big Seven conference wins,

Coyotes On The Way
Coach Rube Hoy of the Sodaks was undaunted by gloomy weather and road reports. Word from Vermillion Saturday morning was that the cagers and Rube are on their way, traveling by bus.

a win over Harvard in the last round of the pre-season Kansas City tourney and a non-conference victory over Washington of St. Louis are the recent Husker triumphs.

Final examinations took the Scarlet team out of competition for two weeks. During practice periods in the interim, Coach Harry Good has been seeking more scoring punch at the forward positions.

When Claude Rutherford moved to guard as play-maker, the Husker front line scoring sagged. Joe Malecek and Rod Cox are slated to start in forward positions tonight.

Other Nebraska regulars will be Bus Whitehead at center and Rutherford and Bob Cerv at guards.

DIEFENDORF BEST.

South Dakota scoring centers around Forward Johnny Diefendorf, a 6-11 performer.

The Coyotes will lack height, but hope to make up the deficiency with an excess of speed.

Guard Tex Hoy, son of the Sodak coach, directs the Coyote plays from his backcourt position.

In a preliminary game at 5:45, the Nebraska B team will play the Morningside B team.

Probable starters:

CHADRON DROPS SURPRISE TILT TO KEARNEY

GAMES SATURDAY.
Hastings (N. Y.)
Wayne at Peru (Auburn).
Chalon at Kearney.
Concordia (St. Louis) at Concordia (Seward).

SCORES FRIDAY NIGHT.

Kearney, 70; Chadron, 58.

(By the Associated Press)

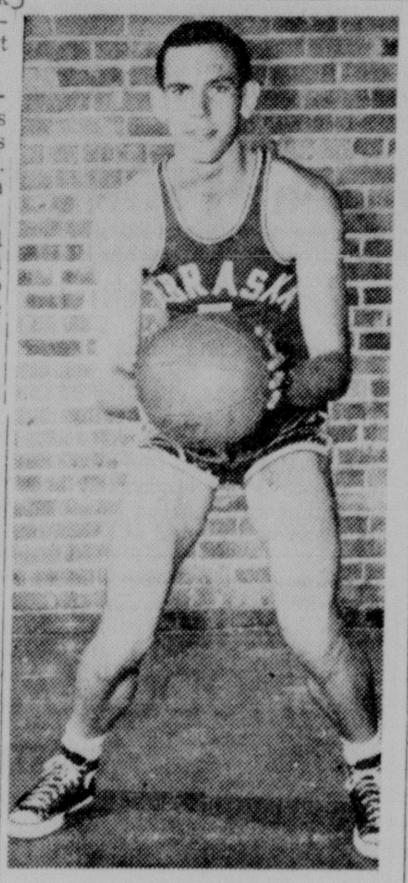

The weatherman still held the key to the Nebraska college basketball situation Saturday.

All of the regularly scheduled games Friday night were postponed because of the weather, but a two-game series was hatched between Chadron and Kearney when the Chadron club, bound for Fremont and a series with Midland, failed to get farther on their trip then Kearney.

Decided to make two games of it they knocked out the Chadron-Midland series and Kearney's game with Doane Friday night and Kearney Saturday night.

Kearney came off best in the first game, 56-50, after trailing 35-37 at the half. For the second game, 58-50, Wayne Monroe who was able to tie up Chadron's high scoring Gene Groves in the first half, Groves had 15 points in the first half, but 10 to six in the second frame. The score was tied 10 times and the lead changed hands seven times. Kearney was able to stay even in the second half. Groves and Bob Korte shared scoring honors with 21 points.

Forest Peters, playing for Montana State in 1924, dropkicking 17 field goals in one game.

Cuban Kid Wants Shot At Champ

After Williams Win, Demands Sugar Fight

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK—(AP)—Kid Gavilan will post forfeit for a welterweight title match with Sugar Ray Robinson off his exciting upset victory over Ike Williams, the lightweight king.

The 20th Century Sporting club has something else in mind—a 15-round rematch of Friday night's 10-round non-title battle with Ike. Frank "Blinky" Palermo, Williams' manager, is full agreement with the promoters.

"NO SOAP."

"No soap," says Angel Lopez, Gavilan's manager, "no third match. Why should we fight him again? I will go to the New York State commission Monday or Tuesday and put up the money demanding that Robinson fight us."

"We'll fight anybody they say if Robinson doesn't want to fight. Charley Fusari, Gene Burton, Vince Foster, Bernard Dosen or anybody. Yes, even Williams, if they say so, but only for the welter title."

If Robinson fights as a welterweight again he has to fight the Kid or pay us $5,000. We never signed any papers releasing him from that agreement, made when he promised to weigh 150 for the non-title fight with the Kid at the Yankee stadium last September. (Robinson weighed 150 1/2 and decided the Cuban.)

WANTS REMATCH.

There is some doubt about Robinson's ability to make the 147-pound weight limit. Sugar Ray claims he can do it, but others are dubious. In any event he probably will not be ready to risk the crown without a few tuneups after a long layoff due to a rib injury. That would push back any title match until the summer in a bad park.

In the meantime, Williams will be dressing for another match with Gavilan. It will be a sure sellout in the Garden for the crowd of 15,125 which paid $37,150 for a series of seven wins to two losses. Williams' record is 15-10, Dean Cerv 6-11, Hoy 6-1.

VERSATILE HUSKER — Big Bob Pierce has seen duty at both forward and center for Nebraska this season. He will be in action against South Dakota tonight. The 6-6 cager is a former Lincoln high star.

Giants Sign 1st Negroes

... 5th Club To Do This

By JOE REICHLER.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Giants Friday became the fifth major league baseball club to hire Negroes when they purchased Outfielder Monte Irvin and Pitcher Ford Smith from the Negro National league.

Their contracts were immediately turned over to the Jersey City Giants, an International league farm club. Irvin and Smith will report to the Little Giants' training camp at Sanford, Fla., next March 10.

Irvin, a righthanded batter, was purchased from the Newark Eagles and Smith also righthanded, was obtained from the Philadelphia club. The latter pitched for the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro American league last year where he won 10 games and lost five.

Irvin was signed by the Brooklyn Dodgers during the winter, but was released when it was discovered he was the property of the Eagles. At the time of the signing the Dodgers said they believed he was free agent.

The Giants' entry into the Negro field came exactly three years and three months after the Dodgers broke the ice by signing Jackie Robinson to a Montreal contract. Robinson advanced to the Dodgers in 1947. Later that year, the Dodgers added Dan Bankhead and Cleveland signed Larry Doby. The St. Louis Browns gave trials to Willard Brown and Henry Thompson. The last two failed to stick.

Last season Brooklyn added a third Negro Catcher Ray Campanella and the Indian signed Leroy "Satchel" Paige, famed Negro righthander. Last December, Irvin, a 18-year-old high school star, to one of their farm clubs.

Irvin is a 6-1, 180-pound native of Orange, Calif., and is considered a potential big leaguer. He is 28. He starred in baseball and football at Orange high school and attended Lincoln University for a year. He was created by having great batting power and has an exceptional arm.

Irvin, 26, is a graduate of the University of Arizona. He lives in Phoenix. During the war he was commissioned a lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force.

He was promoted to the rank of captain and to stay even in the second half. Groves and Bob Korte shared scoring honors with 21 points.

Forest Peters, playing for Montana State in 1924, dropkicking 17 field goals in one game.

Sub Sparks LIU To Win

EUGENE, Ore.—(INS)—A red-hot little substitute guard led Long Island university almost singlehandedly to a hair-raising 68-66 basketball triumph over Oregon in the final five seconds of their exhibition game Friday night.

Six thousand howling fans saw Oregon build up a comfortable 39 to 28 halftime advantage and hold on six points of it most of the second stanza.

They didn't count on Nat Miller, the little sub guard entering the game late for LIU.

Miller, a 6-1, 180-pound native of Orange, Calif., is considered a potential big leaguer. He is 28. He starred in baseball and football at Orange high school and attended Lincoln University for a year. He was created by having great batting power and has an exceptional arm.

Unless Don Gehrmann can run fast enough to prevent it, the Wanamaker mile may go to a foreign invader for the first time in its history Saturday night. Half a dozen hand-picked athletes are entered for this feature of the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden.

Gehrmann, 20-year-old Wisconsin ace who holds the Big Nine and NCAA titles, is this country's chief hope to continue a string of American triumphs that has gone unbroken in this event for 23 years.

The great Paavo Nurmi won the Wanamaker cup in 1925, but the distance of the race in those days was a mile and a half. The distance was changed in 1926.

The "get tough" policy also takes in.

Players who have not signed their contracts are not invited to report to Pasadena until they have done so. Any unsigned players reporting at Pasadena will be sent to the track and will do so at his own expense. Players failing to report by March 1 are to be left behind.

Linuping up Gehrmann Saturday night will be Ingvar Bengtsson of Sweden, Willy Slykhuus of Holland, John Twomey of the Illinois Athletic club, Tommy Quinn of the New York Athletic club and Phil O'Connell of Wanamaker by a scant yard.

But Gehrmann comes to New York for the first time this season and only eastern apertures of the track will be open to him.

In the ensuing scramble, Miller came in with a one-handed push shot from the side to make it even.

The game starts at 8:15 p. m.

Coach Bruce Drake's Sooners are in second place with a record of four wins and one defeat. Nebraska, idle this week, sets the conference pace with two wins without a loss.

Iowa State's record is just one win in five starts.

Impressive Schedule For Wayne Boxers

WAYNE, Neb.—(AP)—Three newcomers have strengthened the Wayne State Teachers boxing squad which has begun intensive workouts for a match with De Paul university in Chicago Feb. 7.

Newcomers are Art and Chris Jensen of Waterloo, Neb., in the heavyweight and light heavyweight classes; and Ray Hartnett of Sioux City in the 135-pound class. Wayne also meets Michigan State and Minnesota in boxing.

Soviet Swamps Drained

MOSCOW — (AP) — The sub-tropical swamps of the Cholcides are being drained.

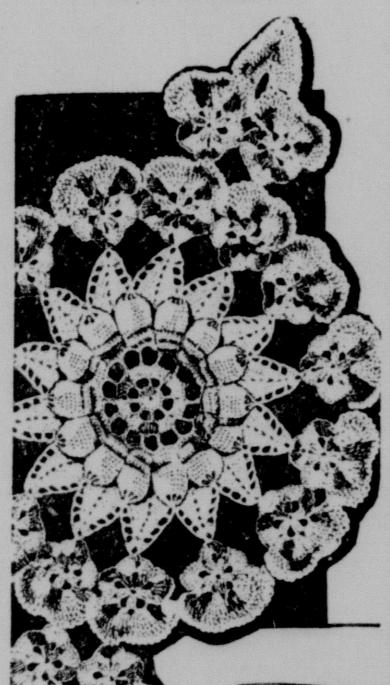

Located along the seacoast of Soviet Georgia these swamps were famous in antiquity and entered into Greek mythology and chronicles. They have rich soil but all attempts at drainage of the area formerly undertaken failed because of the fact that the swamps flooded whenever strong western winds forced up the waters of the Black Sea coast and drove them into the swamp areas.

The Soviets have now for years been carrying out a scientifically planned major effort to drain the swamps. Large areas have been reclaimed for citrus and other sub-tropical cultures.
